NEW DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME IS EFFECTIVE SUNDAY MORNING

Clocks Must Be Turned Forward to Comply With New Law

NO CHANGE IN SCHEDULES

Tomorrow is the day when the "daylight saving" law, recently enacted by Congress, will go into effect. The law provides that clocks, the country over, shall be turned forward an hour at 2 a. m., Sunday March 31. Every branch of activity is affected—railroads, schools, mills, business houses, offices, and churches. In fact the first real test of the new law will come tomorrow morning, when church goers will be required to rise one hour earlier than usual according to the old dispensation, in order to be on time at services Rev. John R. Burson, of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, in his announcement today, says that services in his church will be according to the "new time."

Pract cally, there will be no change. We will get up at the same hour by the clock tomorrow morning as has been our custom; we will attend Sunday school and church services at the same hour; the trains will run at the same hour as usual, and as called for by their various schedules. Monday morning affairs will move along as usual, stores will be ready for customers at the appointed time, school will "take up" according to schedule. However, we will have one hour additional daylight in the afternon and evening to use as we may desire. It will permit the working of war gardens, it will give more time for recreation, it will conserve light and fuel, and be a general benefit to all of us.

The only fellow who is apt to be confused by the change is the one who forgets to move his watch or clock forward one hour either Saturday night on retiring or early Sunday morning.

In the meantime, watch your clock.

ADVISED TO TURN THEIR CLOCKS ON

Rev. C. A. Hartung urges all Methodists to turn their clocks ahead one hour tonight, and tomorrow morning get up and go to church as though nothing had happened. He requests that none be late for Sunday school

EXECUTIVES' ASSOCIATION

An Organization to Promote the Welfare of Valley Towns

DISCUSS MANY QUESTIONS

The Burgesses of Monessen, Donora and Charleroi, and the Mayor of Monongahela City met in Donora on Friday evening, and discussed many important questions of legislation and administration concerning the various towns represented. As the conference progressed it was seen that more effective work could be done if a permanent organization was effected, and consequently it was decided to do so. The name selected is the Valley Chief Executives' Association, and the following officers were chosen:

President—H. A. Cox, Donora.

Secretary—W. B. Stewart, Monessen.

Treasurer—A. L. McVicker, Monongahela.

It was further decided to extend invitations to the burgesses of New Eagle, North Charleroi, Speers, Belle Vernon and Fayette City to become members.

The most important matter taken up by the organization was the early closing of stores, both from a patriotic and economic standpoint. By so doing it was pointed out the merchants would be aiding the government in its work of conservation. A proclamation will be issued soon by the various chief executives calling upon all people in the respective communities to observe the new dispensation.

Sunday closing was also discussed, it being the opinion of all that entirely too many stores are open on that day. Influence will be brought to bear to have this condition remedied. Begging on the streets will also be banned. This will not affect charitable organizations, but the form of street begging which has become quite common in some communities. Those who persist in begging will be placed in institutions, if possible, unless they desist.

A couple of ordinances now in force in Donora, one regulating hawking and peddling and the other licensing junk dealers, were looked over by visiting chief executives, and they will likely recommend their adoption by their respective communities.

Other meetings of the association will be held throughout the summer, and much good is expected to be accomplished.

School Children Are Quite Active in Red Cross Work

The school children of Charleroi are actively engaged in "doing their bit" as far as knitting different articles is concerned, and it is no uncommon sight to see the youngsters plying their needles on the way to and from [illegible]. While the knitting of sweaters, socks and wristlets, is receiving closest attention, a number of rooms in the different buildings are devoting their efforts solely to the preparation of ambulance robes.

The children of Crest avenue school are the first to complete one of these robes and it really is a creditable piece of work. It contains 117 knitted squares, inclusive of the red cross, which is done in appropriate yarn. Most of the work was done by Miss Catherine Riley. The robe, complete in the work of children of about from ten to twelve years of age, with the exception of the red cross, which adorns the center, and which is the work of Miss Nora Swan, principal of the building

[illegible] ORDER IS STILL IN EFFECT

Fuel Administrator H. B. Duncan, of Washington, calls attention to the fact that the order forbidding display lighting on Thursday and Sunday evenings is still in force. Stores doing business on these evenings are alone allowed to carry their lights. Attention to this order is called at this time for the reason that some have not been observing the same.

LONG SENTENCE FOR SOLDIER

Tried by Court Martial for Refusing to Be Operated On

IS DISHONORABLY DISCHARGED

A severe sentence has been given private Lloyd Snell, of California, Pa., now a member of Company L, Three Hundred and Thirtieth Infantry, in training at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio. He was sentenced to be dishonorably discharged from the Army, to forfeit all pay and allowances due or to become due, and to be confined at hard labor for a period of three years. In reviewing the case, Brig. Gen. Frederick Perkins approved the sentence and designated the place of confinement as the United States disciplinary at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and recommended that the prisoner be taken to that institution at once.

Private Snell was found to be suffering from acute chronic appendicitis, and was advised by Capt. Windmuller, M. R. C., that an operation, consisting of removal of the appendix, was necessary to enable him to perform properly his military duties. Snell refused to submit to the operation and a board was appointed to examine him. The board, after examination, found that the operation advised was necessary, but Snell refused to submit to going under the knife.

His trial followed. He entered a plea of guilty to the violation of the ninety-sixth article of war.

DATE A COINCIDENT FOR JACOB WISE

April first, 1865, Jacob Wise, commander of the Charleroi Veteran Guard, was in front of Petersburg, preparing to take part in one of the important engagements which eventually ended in the downfall of the Confederacy. On the first of April he expects to take part in the demonstration in honor of the draftees who have been called into service, and who will leave Monday afternoon, for training at Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va. These boys will likely go over a great deal of the ground with which he was at one time familiar, but under vastly different circumstances.

Miss Kate Laird of Williamsport is visiting with her sister, Miss Margaret Laird.

Will Be Served by Ladies of Washington Ave. Presbyterian Church

SHORT SPEECHES AFTER DINNER

The young men who assemble in Charleroi on Monday next from the Fourth and Fifth Registration Districts of Washington county will be entertained at dinner in the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church at 11.30 o'clock of that day.

The borough council, Burgess Woodward and other leading citizens of the community deem it fitting that some tribute be paid to these men who are going out for service at the call of their country, and realizing it would be more impressive to have the men entertained all together, looked about them for a suitable place. It was finally decided to ask the assistance of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, which under the direction of the pastor, Rev. John R. Burson, readily responded. The ladies of the church were interested at once, and volunteered to prepare for the dinner for the 111 men who are directed to appear in Charleroi on that day to entrain for Camp Lee, at Petersburg, Va.

Plans for the dinner have now been cared for, and the ladies of the church promise to have everything in readiness to serve at the hour mentioned. At the close of the dinner it is proposed to have T. P. Sloan act as toastmaster, and among the speakers, in addition to the members of the registration boards, will be Rev. Burson, pastor of the church.

The early hour of 11:30 was chosen that all of the men might have time to see their families before leaving on the 1:40 train in the afternoon.

REV. HARTUNG IS ON THE SICK LIST

Rev. C. A. Hartung, who has been confined to his bed this week on account of quinsy, is reported much better, but will not be able to occupy his pulpit tomorrow. Dr. J. M. Sleepy, of Pittsburg, will preach for him both morning and evening.

Miss Mattie Kelley of McKean avenue has gone to the Allegheny hospital where she will undergo a course of treatment.

NO PLACE FOR TRAITORS.

Charleroi business men were fired with patriotic zeal after listening to the splendid address of Mr. VanDyke on Thursday evening. The speaker impressed all of his hearers with the fact that he was sincere in what he was saying; that the situation was serious, and that the Americans must present a united front to the enemy. There is no time for division of sentiment at the present time, for while we may have our own differences as to the manner of conducting the war, we ought to be united in our endeavors to win the war. Every other consideration should be eliminated.

True, we hear at times of disloyal sentiment in this and that community, and even in our own. Possibly some of the stories are true, and if they are, there are a few people who ought to be imprisoned for the duration of the war, and then after the conflict is over ought to be sent to Germany, there to live under the paternal and fatherly care of the Kaiser and his plunderbund. It is unfortunate that some people who are loyal are charged with disloyal sentiments, but these cases are rare. Generally speaking, when specific cases are mentioned, there is evidence to back up the stories. What ought to be done in such cases, is to inaugurate a complete investigation, and if sufficient evidence is found, then the parties should be reported to the United States authorities for action. We have no place in this country for traitors, and the sooner they are weeded out the better. If Charleroi has any such people, let us get rid of them.

LET US PAY OUR DEBTS.

L. E. Chittenden, Lincoln's Register of the Treasury, tells in his "Personal Recollections of President Lincoln" of the anonymous Englishman who came forward in 1862 to lend the United States $5,000,000 and the herculean efforts made to repay him. British shipbuilders were constructing two armoured vessels for the Confederacy. Our Minister, Charles Francis Adams, secured the issue of a restraining order just in time, but it could not be enforced until damages had been secured by the deposit of $5,000,000 sterling in gold coin, with gold at 160. Where could he get it? There was no Tran-Atlantic cable then. When he had given up all hope of arresting these vessels, a quiet gentleman called upon him and asked if he might be favored with the opportunity of making the deposit of coin required by the order. The only condition was that his name should not be made known.

In this war, many Englishmen—and others—whose names we do not know, have supplied us with money or its value—with munitions, and men, and safety, and immunity from German attacks. To this, our blood—bought benefit, hundreds of thousands of anonymous Englishmen and Frenchmen and Italians and Belgians have contributed. Shall we not repay them promptly in kind by coming to their aid with money and munitions and ships and men, to the safety from German fury of those who remain, or of their widows and children? This will cost! Will you help? How much? Buy a Liberty Bond and thus pay a little toward the freedom you have enjoyed thus far, as well as contribute toward the ensuring of a like freedom and, we trust, of an even greater Liberty for all in the years to come!

ROADS AND TRUCKS.

The Elizabeth Herald calls attention to the fact that the increased traffic of motor vehicles carrying coal over improved roads and paved streets have seriously injured them, especially during the thaw of the early spring. It says that if these improvements are to be saved to us there should be some action taken at once to either increase their stability or reduce the loads transported over them.

This question has been referred to many times before, and it is very evident that if we are to enjoy improved highways there will have to be a radical change in traffic regulations. Our present road system and our paved streets were never intended for the present heavy traffic. They were constructed at a time when horse-drawn vehicles were greatly in use and were designed to bear up under such loads as could be placed on wagons. The improvement of roads, however, has made it possible for the motor truck, which is a splendid vehicle for delivery purposes, to do the trouble. The fact that the highways have not been able to cope with the modern motor truck is not the fault of the highways themselves, but is entirely due to the fact that many of the highways are being practically ruined because of the traffic that is forced upon them.

Under such circumstances there will be a radical change. Either in the loads or trucks or increase the stability of the roads. One of the other will have to be done, if we are to have good highways, otherwise money already spent on these improvements is just as good as lost.

TOWN GARDENING.

Town lot gardening may be, as some folks say, a fad, but it is a very old one, says an exchange. There was ample proof of this in Charleroi last year, when the gardens produced efficient food to help out a great many families in the food supply. The need this year will be greater than ever and that is reason enough for every bit of vacant land being planted this spring.

The gardens last year were dividend payers, and with as favorable weather conditions this summer as those of a year ago the dividends ought to be larger. If a lot owner is physically able they ought to make their own garden, and then look after it. If you hire some one else to do the work you are merely taking such person from some other productive work. And you will not have the same amount of pleasure as if you did the planting and hoeing yourself. Therefore make your own garden.

Notice.

The Veteran Guard and comrades will meet Monday, April 1st, at the Elk's Hall, Third street, Charleroi, at 9:30 o'clock, a. m., to escort our comrades in arms, who have been called to defend our country and our flag the same as we did in the days of '61 and '65. Automobiles will be furnished by the committee. Comrades, let us do our duty and our "bit" while a survivor lives, that we may hand to the present generation old Glory, which we saved in the days of the civil war. Jacob Wise, commander.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dr. H. P. Schrigley, an expert on foot trouble will be at Claybaugh and Millikens Shoe Store. Consult him. 243t1

Spoiled the Good Thing.

Bobby had a bad habit of waking up in the middle of the night and crying dismally until one of his parents would walk him to sleep again. One night Bobbie began to cry and his mother said to her husband: "Dear, you'd better walk the baby." Father grumbled and baby howled and finally spoke up sobbingly: "Yes, dear; I fink you had better walk the baby." After this his habit was no longer indulged.

Good Excuse for Bothering.

Charles lived with his aunt, who was a milliner and worked down town. She had told him not to telephone to her unless it was important. One day she was called to the phone, and little Charles said, "Auntie, don't be cross, but this is something very impossible."—Chicago Tribune.

Child's Food Important.

Froebel, that deep student of child culture, said that in the early years the child's food is a matter of the greatest importance not only may the child by this means be made then indolent and inactive, sluggish or mobile, dull or bright, inert or vigorous, but, indeed, for his entire life.

Speeding Up.

Worthy emulation to the celebrated painter who, when the paint got low, hastened to finish the floor before the paint gave out, has been found in the woman knitter who sat up late to finish a scarf because she had so little yarn!

Stamps Separated.

To separate stamps that have become stuck together, lay a sheet of thin paper over them and iron with a hot iron. This will take them apart and the glue will still remain.

Daily Thought.

An act of yours is not simply the thing you do but it is also the way you do it.—Wendell Phillips.

Old Age's Chief Blessing.

The fruit of old age is the memory and rich store of blessings laid up in early life.—Cicero.

Optimistic Thought.

There is a remedy for every invasion of right.

People Who Are Too Good.

We have [illegible] world all kinds of [illegible] making bad people good and good people better, but I am [illegible] for making too good people—and let us say, normal. We have also seen people who would have [illegible] bewitched by an occasional [illegible] with perhaps a sight in [illegible] whom no one is courageous enough to correct. It is not their fault [illegible] are so do it all the forces of [illegible] circle work to make [illegible] respectable.—Robert M. [illegible] in the Atlantic Monthly.

Removing a Broken Caster.

A broken caster may be withdrawn from the leg of a piece of furniture by boring a hole in the center of the caster stem and threading in a machine screw, thus securing a suitable nut. A heavy metal washer is placed under the head of the screw. One side of the caster is supported by a block of wood, or leather, while a claw hammer, or "puller," is used to pry out the [illegible] from the Manufacturers Magazine.

Responsibility the Cure.

If there is anything that shows what [illegible] will do rightly it is responsibility. It makes those taking a stand in the full light, where they can really justify their claims. If a person who constantly boasts his greatness can stand under the test and burden of responsibility, then his success is assured. If he fails in this test he loses friends. Until such persons regain their position they are despised and rejected.

Dynamiting the Clams.

The little pholas or boring clam is a great delicacy on the Pacific coast. Its meat is juicy and tender and is excellent in chowder. Consequently, fishermen are not content to dislodge the clams slowly with pick and crowbar. They use dynamite, one blast of which dislodges hundreds of clams, according to the Popular Science Monthly.

Word Has Had Many Meanings.

The term "pocket handkerchief" is one of the queerest in our language. At first it meant kerchief (courvechef), a covering for the head; then it became handkerchief, a covering for the head carried in the hand, and at length pocket handkerchief, a covering for the head held in the hand and kept in the pocket.

Grandpa's Movement.

The small grandson was sent to the garden to call his grandfather to dinner, but, intent upon his work, the man paid little attention to the child, who returned to the house and when asked by his grandmother, "What did grandpa say?" replied: "He didn't say anything. He just went around in a think."

Properly Sized Up.

"Yes," remarked a conceited young bachelor, "I have the greatest admiration for the fair sex, but I never expect to marry—oh, dear, no!" "Indeed," a lady remarked. "Then I am to understand that you not only admire women, but you have a sincere regard for them as well."

Registering a "Kick."

"Do you remember them moth balls yez sold me to kill moths wid?" said Casey to the druggist. "Well, I'm tellin' yez they're no good. Ol broke an shillin's worth of chiny and winders throwin' them little balls at the plaguey things, and niver killed wan!"—London Tit-Bits.

Mitchell, Ind.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me so much during the time I was looking forward to the coming of my little one that I am recommending it to other expectant mothers. Before taking it, some days I suffered with neuralgia so badly that I thought I could not live, but after taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was entirely relieved of neuralgia, I had gained in strength and was able to go around and do all my housework. FIGHTING BEHIND THE BATTLE LINES

By Caroline Tickner of The Vigilantes

This war divides Americans into two classes; those that are fighting, and those that are being fought for. If we are numbered with the fighters, we have relinquished everything to serve our country and its magnificent ideal. We are prepared to lay down life and all that we hold dear, in order that this land may remain "safe for democracy;" an honorable abode for future generations.

If we are in the second class, these fighters are fighting for us, and the one question we have to answer (every one of us, man, woman and child) is this—"Are we worth fighting for?"

Upon our answer to that question depends our own salvation, that of this nation and of the great cause of humanity.

Are we worth fighting for? Not if we are skulking behind our soldiers hiding behind them or even standing directly behind them. We must be found fighting behind them; fighting with body, mind and soul. If we are not prepared to do this, woe to democracy, woe to the land of Washington and Lincoln, woe to the coming generations!

Fighting with body, that means physical work, physical sacrifice; devotion to the performance of some constructive task; consistency in giving up unnecessary indulgence and pet luxury. We must give of our abundance, give of our scanty store, give of our time and money. Let us examine our physical qualifications for the fight which is before us. What can we do most skillfully, acceptably efficiently? Let us find out as speedily as possible and set to work for today, time is more than "money," time is "life," we dare not waste it. Remember we are fighting not hiding. Weary? Yes, so are they. Distasteful? They find it so. Hard? Life is more than hard out in the trenches.

Fighting with mind, another task before us, a duty and a privilege. Intelligence; yes every bit of it is needed to reinforce those that have little of this quality. Use it unstintingly to further every national measure; economy of food; production of supplies; saving of fuel. We must fight with our heads, for lo, the enemy within our gates has taxed his cunning to do his utmost to circumvent us. We must keep every faculty of mind alert to offset his insidious propaganda and frustrate his stealthy encroachments.

Fighting with all our soul. That means belief, courage and steadfast faith in the great victory for righteousness that is to be. Work cheerfully, talk confidently, write hopefully. Not pacifism but Peace is coming, if only we fight hard enough behind our fighters.

"Freedom is only a land of dreams," cried Schiller, standing upon German soil. Let us shout to the hills: "Freedom is every nation's birthright, and our own brave men, shoulder to shoulder with our free nations of the earth, are fighting for that freedom," fighting, inspired by the spirit of 1620, breathing the spirit of 1776 and 1861; and we, fighting behind our fighters, with body and mind and soul must prove ourselves like our great cause, worth fighting for.

REAPING BENEFIT

From the Experience of Charleroi People.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Charleroi residents on the following subject will interest and benefit many of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had.

Mrs. Fred Jackson, 207 Prospect avenue, Charleroi, says: "I was troubled by a constant backache. If I did a little extra work the pain in my back was intense. I didn't rest well at night and got up in the morning lame and stiff. If I stooped, sharp pains caught me and I could hardly straighten. I also had rheumatic pains in my back and arms and I couldn't do any sweeping. Dizzy spells and hot flashes bothered me terribly. As Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in the family with good results, I got a box at Piper Bros.' Drug Store and began taking them. One box cured me."

What Will Happen to Workingmen When the Liquor Business Is Destroyed?

The arguments of the liquor men that a calamity will follow the abolition of the liquor business is based entirely upon the absurdity that if we no longer spend two billion dollars for booze, we can by no possibility spend it for anything else !

They reason that if a man doesn't spend his week's wages for beer or whiskey, the only thing he can do with his wages is to throw them into the sewer.

The fact is he will spend his wages for food and clothing and furniture and other necessities of life.

And when he does so---counting all classes of industries---he gives work to four times as many wage-earners, who collectively will receive four times as much in the form of wages, and four times as much raw materials will be required, than if he had spent his money for beer and whiskey.

How can more wage-earners employed, more wages paid, and more raw materials required, create a labor panic ?
